RURAL CARRIERS DISPLEASED WITH CHANGES IN THE SYSTEM

County R. F. D. Men Object To Alterations Made in The County Service

CLAIMED ROUTES ARE LONG

As the result of a called meeting of the Washington county Rural Letter Carriers association held in the public meeting room of the court house, at Washington Saturday night it was decided by resolution unanimously adopted to request Postmaster Joe W. Martin of Washington to go to the National Capital to intercede with the postoffice authorities with the view of securing such a readjustment as will remedy defects now existing in the srvice. Following is the text of the resolution which was adopted without a dissenting vote:

"Resolved, that we, the Washington county Rural Letter Carriers association request Posmaster Joseph W. Martin to go to Washington City to intercede in behalf of the rural mail carriers of Washington county in efforts to induce the postoffice authorities to shorten the routes over which the carriers are obliged to travel daily by the recent change in the system."

Another resolution receiving the affirmative vote of all carriers in attendance at the meeting was also passed as follows:

"Resolved, that our state delegates bring before the coming state convention a proposition to employ a special state representative whose special duty will be to look after the best interests of the various rural mail carriers association.

At the meeting Saturday night G. A. Crum of Canonsburg, president of the association and William E. Courson of Washington, secretary and treasurer were present, besides other members from Washington, secretary and treasurer were present, besides other members from Washington, Burgettstown, Midway, Avella, Eighty-Four, Monongahela and other points.

From the tone of the reports made by various carriers, it is plainly evident that general dissatisfaction exists in the ranks of the carriers and, among the greater number of the patrons of the respective routes over the readjustment of the routes re-

FIRST BAND CONCERT AT THE BEACH TO BE GIVEN THURSDAY

The first band concert ever held at the Charleroi Bathing Beach will be given on Thursday evening of this week by the Charleroi Concert band under the direction of Edward Wheeler. No announcement has been made as to the program, but it will be one made up of various classical and popular numbers. The concert will start at 7 o'clock. Announcement is also being made of a concert next Sunday afternoon and evening at the beach by the carnival band connected with the Johnny Jones carnival, which will be here the week of July 5.

On Sunday good crowds enjoyed the beach attractions, and bathing was much enjoyed.

ANNIVERSARY DAY OFFERING IS $600

Methodists Raise Large Sum At Special Sunday Services for Church Building

GOOD PROGRAM CARRIED OUT

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization of the First Methodist Episcopal church was celebrated Sunday. In the morning a program was carried out by the children and others of the church and Rev. Wesley G. Mead, Ph. D., pastor of the church made an address. In the evening the pastor preached a special sermon.

One of the chief features of the day was an anniversary day offering which was taken by the Sunday school in the morning. It amounted nearly to $600. The money will be used for expenses incidental to the operation of the church plant.

The program carried out at the morning service included recitations and songs by classes of children and musical numbers by some of the older folk. One of the charming features was a violin solo by Miss Norma Bosson daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Bosson. She lately has returned from the Peabody Institute at Baltimore, Md. She played Handel's Largo with depth and feeling with the accompaniment by Miss May Barth.

The various services of the day were well attended. In the morning the church auditorium was packed to capacity.

BIG ATTENDANCE WEEKLY AT EUCHRES OF LYCEUM

Thursday evening euchres are proving popular at St. Jerome's lyceum to such an extent that the attendance is increasing weekly. Splendid favors are being awarded.

AVELLA MAN KILLED IN PECULIAR MANNER

Tungos is Knocked From Seat of Wagon by Unbroken Colt—Death Results Instantly From Broken Neck

Knocked from the seat of a wagon by the heels of a colt he was driving, Mike Tungos, Sr. of Avella was instantly killed Sunday morning as the result of a broken neck. The accident was a very peculiar one.

Mr. Tungos, accompanied by his son, Mike, starting out to break a two-year-old stallion, hitched him to a small spring wagon. They had driven him toward West Middletown on the state road and turned to come home. Between the residence of Robert Craig and the William Craig residence the colt became slightly frightened at something and Mr. Tungos, Sr., struck him with the whip two or three times. The horse let go with his heels and Mr. Tungos got the full force in the stomach, which tumbled him off the seat backward.

In alighting in the bed of the spring wagon Mr. Tungos' head doubled under him and as a result his neck was broken. A physician was summoned but he stated that death resulted almost instantly and Mr. Tungos was hauled to his home at Avella in the wagon by the horse which had caused his death. The body was taken in charge by Deputy Coroner W. W. Weigmann.

Mr. Tungos was about 55 years of age and had been engaged in the butchering business at Avella, having purchased the business of John Doliner. His wife, one son, and two daughters survive.

NEW MARIANNA CHURCH IS DEDICATED SUNDAY

Interesting Exeercises Held at New House of Worship—Number of Visiting Ministers Have Place on Program.

Impressive services marked the dedication of the new Methodist Episcopal church at Marianna Sunday. The weather was ideal for the occasion and many persons from all parts of the country attended the morning, afternoon and evening sessions. An interesting feature of the day was the fact that sufficient money was taken in the offerings to pay the remainder of the church debt and to leave a balance of $13.

The address at the morning service was given by Rev. Daniel Westfall. Prayer was offered by Rev. W. S. Lowry and Rev. Thomas of Sewickley. The addresses at the afternoon meeting was given by Rev. C. L. V. McKee, Rev. W. S. Lowry, Rev. John W. King, Rev. Mr. Headlee, Rev. Dr. Westfall, the Rev. Mr. Tylers. At this meeting also were read letters from ministers and laymen who were unable to attend the dedication.

Addresses at the evening session were made by Rev. Dr. Westfall and Rev. John C. McMinn. Special music featured all of the day's meetings.

The church at Marianna follows a long period of growth and preparation. In 1908 Rev. C. L. V. McKee went there to attend a Union Sunday school picnic and it was on that day that the first plans for the organization of a church were made. During the year 1909, Rev. Mr. McKee visited the families in the neighborhood and after painstaking and persistent effort organized a Sunday school.

The church congregation was an outgrowth of the Sunday school. Since that time the organization has grown steadily. Last winter when the economic condiions at Marianna were at their worst a revival was held by the congregation and it was a success from every standpoint.

The present pastor of the church is Rev. George Bayha. He has done much to build up the congregation and has been a leading figure in the campaign for the new church home. There is every reason to believe that the church and the congregation will be a power for good in this community.

PROMINENT SUFFRAGIST TO SPEAK HERE TONIGHT

Mrs. Enrue Coming Under Auspices Of Charleroi Woman Suffrage League—Is Known Nationally Because of Her Suffrage Activities.

"Votes for women by a woman voter" is the way in which the subject of an address to be made by Mrs. Enrue tonight is being announced. Mrs. Enrue will speak at the corner of Fifth street and Fallowfield avenue under the auspices of the Charleroi woman suffrage league. COMMENCEMENT SEASON OPENS AT CALIFORNIA NORMAL SCHOOL

CLASS OF 70 RECEIVE FIRST COMMUNION AT LOCAL CHURCH

At St. Jerome's Catholic church Sunday morning the first communion was administered for a class of 70 children. Rev. B. N. Axmacher, assistant pastor of the church, was in charge, and celebrated high mass at 9 o'clock. Special music was rendered under direction of Edward Wheeler, with Miss Bertha Kleist, and a special sermon was preached. The mass and service was impressive, although the class was not the largest in the history of the church.

This morning at 8 o'clock the children who took communion were invested with the scapular of the Blessed Virgin.

There will be no advance in prices for "The Avenging Conscience" which comes to the Coyle Theatre Wednesday. 11-t1

COLLECTED FOR CHURCH; DRUNK

Two Men Arrested For Their Connection With Dubious Scheme

SOME MONEY, MUCH WHISKEY

The past week end was an exceptionally busy one in the local police circles. Saturday night three were arrested on the charge of drunkeness, Sunday two were arrested on the same charge.

Monday three men, all too intoxicated to give their names with any veracity, were arrested while begging on the streets. They declared that they were begging in an endeavor to secure funds for the building of a certain church, the location of which differed according to the degree of intoxication. Upon being arrested the men were searched and considerable money was found along with several lists recording the sums contributed by various people of Charleroi. A comparison between the money and the total of the lists showed that a great deal of money had been spent. The search also disclosed two full quarts of whiskey on one of the men.

GRACE WASHBURN IN GOOD SHOW AT PALACE THEATRE

The beautiful young star of the New York Winter Garden and of the London Opera house, Grace Washburn will be starred in he presentation of "When it Strikes Home" at the Palace theatre Wednesday afternoon and evening. The offering is one based upon a story writtn by Charles K. Harris, the famous song writer, and is one of great heart interest.

Principal Hertzog Delivers Baccalaureate Address to Class Sunday Night

JUNIOR CLASS GIVES PLAY

"Pinafore" is Staged by Students of Up-River Educational Institution—Charleroi Girl Has Prominent Part in Cast.

Principal W. S. Herzog of the California State Normal school delivered the baccalaureate address to the 139 members of the class of 1915 Sunday night at California. The principal's subject was "The Characteristics of the Prepared Man and Woman." His sermon was given in the presence of one of the largest crowds that ever attended a similar event at the Normal. Special music was an impressive feature of the baccalaureate service.

While the service Sunday night was the formal opening of graduation week the observance of Junior Class day Saturday was the real opening of the commencement season. For their share in the festivities the members of the third year class presented the Gilbert and Sullivan gem, "Pinafore," staged under the direction of Charles A. Dobson.

The role of the Hon. Rt. Sir Joseph Porter K. C. B., first lord of the admiralty was portrayed by Amour Haines. David Eaton was an acceptable imitation of the original conception of Capt. Corcoran, commander of the H. M. S. Pinafore. The part of Ralph Rackstraw the humble seaman who wins the love and the hand of the captain's daughter Josephine was well done by Clarence Lewellyn.

As Dick Deadeye, Prof. Bert De-Boer was the clown of the peace. Josephine, the captain's daughter and the heroine of the opera was portrayed by Miss Cora Williams.

LIFE AND LONGEVITY

What really constitutes life? Is it action or is merely existence? Which is the most useful, the man who gives his all in energy, to service, or he who conserves his forces and thereby prolongs his days? He lives most who accomplishes most: activity is useful, productive or constructive effort is the real test of life, says the Omaha Bee. Length of years may cement some, but restless energetic souls will press forward, regardless of time, striving for a goal they may never attain, but always striving. And these only really live. Life insurance presidents, being interested in the prolongation of existence of risks lend their efforts to the teaching of elements of living, the avoidance of excesses, exposures or unnecessary, risk of any kind, and in this way really served the world, because they increase the productive years of man. As a result of modern methods man really lives longer and better, but this is not the all-in-all of life. To live is to be active, to have a part in the creative effort of mankind regardless of whether the span be long or short so long as it is busy, for "an end is an end, whether it cometh on the winged heels of a_ weel or the dull stretch of a century."

THE MEDICINE HABIT

Many a man who would resent the efforts of a blacksmith to repair his piano, will accept the advice of his next door neighbor, regarding some favorite remedy for an ailment the nature of which is by no means certain. He will consume innumerable bottles of "medicine" which are accompanied by guarantees that no reputable physician would think of making, says the state health commissioner.

The human body is so much more delicate in its construction than any mechanical device ever invented, that to run the risk of upsetting the functions of the various organs by the use of preparations of which one has no accurate knowledge, is not only absurd but in many instances extremely dangerous.

There is another draw-back to self medication. The diagnosis of disease is a matter which requires skill and training of the highest kind. The symptoms of various disturbances in the human economy may manifest themselves by causing distress in some part of the body entirely separated from the seat of the difficulty. As an example indigestion is often the cause of headache. Such symptoms can only be properly related to the cause by one who is skilled in diagnosis. Food itself, under certain conditions, may produce disturbances as profound as those caused by potent drugs.

The tendency of modern medicine is toward prevention and the present-day physician makes far less use of drugs than did his predecessors. Despite this fact it has been estimated that the people of the United States spend some $500,000,000 a year for medicine most of which is not prescribed by physicians. We consume more drugs than any other people in the world.

The individual who has any ailment which seems to necessitate the continued use of drugs should for his own welfare and safety consult an able physician.

"We arrived here safe after a long and tiresome journey. The ordered goods have arrived in excellent condition. The messenger has brought us snow and hail in good order. The storm came one day later, I am sorry that the thunder burst up, and the lightning we had to patch up also. The ocean and rivers I wish you to send up as early as possible and do not forget to send us new clouds and a new sun. But the most important thing we want is a map, as ours has been burned. Then we want a few yards of forest. Roll them all up and send immediately."

The letter was not written by a practical joker, but a manager of a traveling theatrical company which had lost some of its scenery.

A facetious boss said to a new hod carrier:

"Look-a-here, friend, didn't I hire you to carry bricks up that ladder by the day?"

"Yes sir," said the hod carrier, touching his cap.

"Well, I've had my eyes on you, and you've only done it half a day today. You spent the other half coming down the ladder."

The hod carrier touched his cap again.

"I'll try to do better tomorrow, sir," he said humbly.

Look over the Majestic program for this week. Will you miss it. 11-tf

TWO GAMES PLAYED ON CHARLEROI BASEBALL GROUNDS ON SATURDAY

Two baseball games were played Saturday afternoon on the Charleroi baseball ground, one by the rejuvenated Charleroi Independent club and Homestead Grays and the other by the Dunlevy team and Homestead Grays. The Charleroi club managed to whitewash the Homesteaders and the Dunlevy lads won by a score of 3 to 2.

J. Miller twirled for Charleroi, and performed so nobly that, Homestead only got five hits. Irwin pitched for Dunlevy and Homestead banged the ball only five times. Both games were good ones. The Charleroi score:

We Remember It.

Dear Luke: Do you remember the old fashioned minstrel troupe in which two members sang, "If I Had But a Thousand a Year, Goffer Green," and then the tenor and baritone would sing "Larboard Watch, Ahoy," and a quartet would render "Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming" and follow it with "Shells of Ocean" as an encore, and then the basso profundo would clean up with "A Hundred Fathoms Deep?"—Robin Rough, Troy, O.

Grin.

Some men would move the world to tears,

I want to make him grin.

THIRTY DAYS IS THE SENTENCE IMPOSED ON MAN FOR BEATING SON

Joseph Rush of Crest avenue and Twelfth street, was sentenced to 30 days in the workhouse this morning by Justice of the Peace E. E. Rice, charged with inhumanly beating his small son, Joseph, Jr. Information was made against Rush by William Gelder a local humane officer. It is stated that the father sent his son out to dispose of some tobacco coupons and was dissatisfied when the son returned with the proceeds of the transaction. The price of two coupons was missing, the son stating that they had been too old to be sold.

The father did not accept the reason given by the son and it is said procured a broad double strap and beat the youngster until his back and shoulders were blue and black and with deeply inflicted wounds. When brought before Justice Rice, Rush was sulky and would admit nothing excepting that he gave the son a severe beating.

East Using Western Products.

Americans who have been influenced by the Orient to the extent of taking their tea clear, without milk or sugar, are now learning that the Occident is bent on teaching the Chinese to use milk with their decoction of tea leaves—and condensed milk at that. An enterprising condensed milk company is pushing the campaign, and expects to be successful. This concern has already introduced condensed milk ice cream to the Chinese and they like it so well that many of the restaurants keep it always on hand. Practically no fresh milk is to be had in China, although the natives seem familiar enough with the virtues of both the fresh and the condensed article Canned salmon is another Western staple that has made a decided impression on the far East.

Fear of Poverty.

We have grown literally afraid to be poor. We despise anyone who elects to be poor in order to simplify and save his inner life. We have lost the power of even imagining what the ancient idealization of poverty could have meant; the liberation from material attachments, the unbribed soul, the manlier indifference, the paying our way by what we are or do, and not by what we have, the right to fling away our life at any moment irresponsibly—the more athletic trim, in short, the moral fighting shape. . . . It is certain that the prevalent fear of poverty among the educated classes is the worst moral disease from which our civilization suffers.—Prof. William James

Crystal Palace.

The Crystal palace, which is to be closed in order to provide quarters for 10,000 recruits, is not without other connection with the war. Had there been no Krupps, there might have been no war and the palace helped to make the great gun firm famous. The Krupp establishment at Essen was quite a small affair until a two-ton ingot of cast steel shown by the enterprising Alfred Krupp at the great exhibition of 1851 attracted shoals of orders, and led to almost fabulous prosperity.—London Chronicle.

The alarming increase in deaths from diseases of the heart, kidneys and blood vessels—170,000 in 1914—is, according to Dr. Louis Faugeres Bishop, largely the result of excessive meat eating.

IN SUCH PAIN WOMAN CRIED

Suffered Everything Until Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Florence, So. Dakota.—"I used to be very sick every month with bearing down pains and backache, and had headache a good deal of the time and very little appetite. The pains were so bad that I used to sit right down on the floor and cry, because it hurt me so and I could not do any work at those times. An old woman advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I got a bottle. I felt better the next month so I took three more bottles of it and got well so I could work all the time. I hope every woman who suffers like I did will try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. P. W. JANSENG, Box 9, Allyn, Wash.

Why will women continue to suffer day in and day out or drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, etc.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

LESSER INDIAN DEATH RATE

The physical decline and the alarming death rate of the American Indian of today is perhaps the most serious and urgent of the many problems that confront him at the present time.

The death rate is stated by government officials at about thirty per thousand of the population—double the average rate among white Americans. From the same source we learn that about seventy thousand in the United States are suffering from trachoma, a serious and contagious eye disease, and probably thirty thousand have tuberculosis in some form.

The death rate from tuberculosis is almost three times that among the whites.

These are grave facts and cause deep anxiety to the intelligent Indian and to the friends of the race.

Some hold pessimistic views looking to its early extinction; but these are not warranted by the outlook, for, in spite of the conditions named, the last three censuses show a slight but continuous increase in the total number of Indians.

Nor is this increase among mixed-bloods alone; the full-blooded Indians are also increasing in numbers. This indicates that the race has reached and passed the lowest point of its decline, and is beginning slowly but surely to recuperate.

A pugnacious Plymouth Rock rooster and a woman's attempt to kick have furnished a case for the doctor. The rooster belongs to W. E. Coughenour, a dairyman of Dunbar, Pa. It has been creating trouble by chasing children, and Mrs Coughenour, who takes care of the family hennery, made up her mind to give the vicious bird a lesson.

Going out to the flock to give the chickens their morning meal, she was attacked by the rooster. Mrs. Coughenour took careful aim, and delivered a powerful kick, intended to put the bird out of business. She missed, her foot struck a stone, she fell disabled, and a physician found her leg broken.

Why They Were "Bad Company."

A soldier, charged with being drunk and disorderly, mentioned, in extenuation of his offense, the fact that he had been compelled to travel up from camp in very bad company.

"What sort of company?" asked the magistrate.

"A lot of teetotallers!" was the startling response

"Do you mean to say teetotallers are bad company?" thundered the magistrate. "I think they are the best company for such as you'"

"Beggin' your pardon sor," answered the prisoner, "ye're wrong, for I had a bottle of whisky and I had to drink it all meself."

Their Use.

"Why do you advocate blanket street-paving bills?"

When a run-down salesman calls on you, do you buy his goods? Aren't you afraid of his line because he looks as if no one ever gave him an order?

Same thing is true of a seedy town. To be prosperous it must look prosperous and show local pride.

Clean streets, nice stores and well-painted buildings pay because they bring business. Paint-hungry buildings are least excusable, for paint made of

NEEDED ONE OF TWO THINGS

"The business man of the past loved to wear goggles. He thought they made him look more capable and honest. He thought they drew trade. But the gay, dancing business man of today, with his tango matinees and maxixe teas, can't bear the thought of goggles, for he wants, up to the age of sixty, to look like a college boy."

The speaker was Jerome S. McWade, a retired millionaire business man of Duluth. With a bitter laugh, Mr. McWade went on:

"I heard a gay, young dancing business man of fifty-seven summers get a good call in court the other day. He was reading a document—without goggles, of course—and he stumbled and stuttered and kept holding the document farther and farther from his poor eyes.

"The judge got mad at last and roared at him.

Dread Year of the Tiger.

The Year of the Tiger—1914 was so called in the Japanese calendar—foreboded calamity in the prophecies of that people. The Japan Chronicle notes that the ancient superstition is confirmed by the European war, beside which the volcanic eruption at Kagoshima was of trifling consequence.

Victoria's V. C.'s.

In presenting the Victoria Cross to soldiers actually "in the field," King George may to some extent have been influenced by the original order, which provides that under conditions stipulated, the coveted decoration shall be conferred "on the spot where the act to be rewarded by the grant of such decoration has been performed." The first presentation of the Victoria Cross, however, took place in Hyde Park in June, 1857, when Queen Victoria with her own hands pinned it on the coats of sixty-two Crimean heroes. It is recorded that the queen wore a red and white feather at the side of her round hat, "a scarlet body made nearly like a military tunic," and a dark blue skirt. She was on horseback, with Prince Albert on her left, who made a profound obeisance to each wearer of the V. C.

Pigeons That Swim.

The swimming of blue pigeons—the familiar domestic bird—is the remarkable sight reported to a Dutch natural history journal. Some months ago one of the doves was thrown into the water in a fight and rescued by human aid, and since then they have become more familiar with the water. Pieces of bread noticed in shallow places evidently tempted them at first. Gaining courage, they soon learned to swim, and just before making his report the observer saw two of them sailing around like gulls a few yards from his house. When they tired of the bath they quietly flew out of the water.

TOMBS IN THE AIR NEXT.

New York Mausoleum Trust Proposes to Erect Cemeteries of Eight Stories.

The "Skyscraper Cemetery" bill is in again, says the New York World. It reappeared in the legislature recently, backed by the $2,000,000 mausoleum combine, which wants to build six, seven or eight story structures for housing the dead anywhere in the state.

The project is represented by the promoters to be to the interests of the poor, because a person of small means may buy for a nominal sum a niche in which to be stowed after death.

In practically all of the counties composing the metropolitan and adjoining districts new cemeteries are prohibited by law. Last year and the year before the mausolem trust framed its bill so that restrictions of this sort, applying to Nassau county, were removed. This was to permit a lofty tomb adjoining the estates of wealthy New Yorkers. The opposition was so vigorous that the bill was killed.

The measure now contains a sweeping provision, permitting the erection of mausoleums anywhere in the state. The only condition imposed is that the state health commissioner shall approve plans for the structures. Legislators are of the opinion that this year's measure, by implication, repeals the acts which now protect certain counties from having cemeteries established in populated districts or where property is of great value.

SCULPTOR TALKS OF POPE

Raffaelle Romagnoli, the Florentine sculptor, who was summoned from Petrograd to Rome to make a bust in bronze of Pope Benedict, gives an interesting account of his work in the Vatican.

The pope refused to sit more than three times, and even then the sittings were short. When the cast was shown him the pontiff expressed himself well pleased, gave the artist an autograph portrait and said:

"I thank God that I am now done with all painters and sculptors. You are the only one who has had three sittings. Now, go. You have my benediction."

Romagnoli describes the pope's features thus:

"His holiness has a most interesting head—large forehead and cranium characteristic of a serene, well-balanced mind. The aquiline nose and deep-set eyes show force of character and intelligence; the eyes, though short-sighted gleam with intelligence. The large, well shaped mouth shows constancy of purpose. The chin is prominent, of the classical shape of Julius Caesar's and Napoleon's."

No Wonder She Blushed.

"Great things these pay-as-you-enter cars," remarked Joe Dillon, the most truthful press representative along the Great White Way. "Great things under some circumstances, particularly for the male sex. At one of the crossings coming down today, a young woman leaped on the step and started to go inside when the conductor stopped her with 'fare please.' 'I'll pay you when I get inside,' she said, indignantly. 'Gotter have it now,' answered the conductor. 'I haven't the change,' blushed the girl. 'Gotter get yer money out,' insisted the conductor. 'I can make the change.' 'Well,' the girl half sobbed, 'I'll have to go in and sit down to get it.' And every woman within distance seemed to understand just what the poor girl meant, except that boob of a conductor. But the girl managed to worm herself into a seat and soon fished out the wherewithal."

More Insane Men Than Women.

There is said to be one person in every 500 in an insane asylum, and the census bureau gives figures that are interesting as to the sex of the insane, more males than females being in the asylums. In a typical community of 200,000 there will be 203 males insane and 200 females. In the course of a year 72 men and 60 women would be admitted to an asylum. In 1880 the total number of insane persons in the asylums of the United States included 20,635 males and 20,307 females. Thirty years later the number had increased until there were 98,695 males and 80,096 females in the asylums. The proportion of men was even greater in 1910, with 128 males to 100 females.

Saw-Edge Collars.

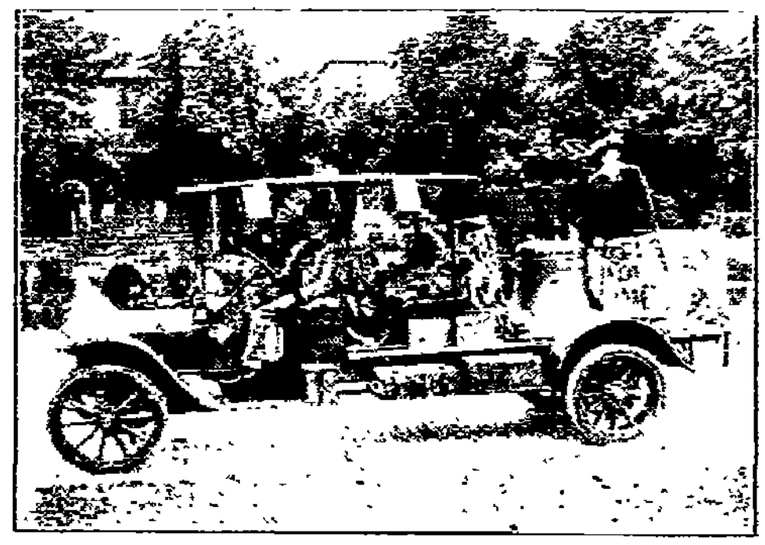
It is well known that the modern mechanical laundry methods are very hard upon linen, and collars or cuffs soon have a rough edge, which irritates the skin, even though scarcely visible to the naked eye. To avoid this it suffices to run over the edge a small rod having a suitable groove near one end, so as to flatten down the rough edge.

A neat Paris device embodies this idea and also another useful one, for the pointed end of the rod serves as a buttonhole opener.

Docks Building at Bombay.

Bombay is possessed of the biggest docks east of Suez, but the port has been wanting in respect of facilities for taking railway borne goods to the dock side and vice versa. This defect is being remedied little by little by the extension of the Port Trust railway from one end of the port to the other, and seven stations are to be opened for goods traffic during the course of a month.

WOMAN'S LIBERTY BELL STARTS ON RECORD TRIP



Huge and enthusiastic crowds greet the historic suffrage symbol at all towns and cross-roads on tour through State—women feeling the ballot are jubilant over the bell's reception.

The Woman's Liberty Bell has started on its State-wide tour of Pennsylvania. Leaving Sayre, in Bradford county, on the morning of June 23rd, it has swept through the northern tier counties at an average rate of 50 miles a day and is now swinging southward to reach Pittsburgh in time for the big suffrage demonstration there on Independence Day.

If the big crowds and the enthusiasm which have greeted the bell all along its route thus far can be taken as a true indication of public sentiment, the suffragists of Pennsylvania need have no fear of the outcome on Election Day. For in each of the scores of towns through which the bell party has passed, tremendous crowds have turned out to cheer the plucky little band of women and pledge them their affirmative votes on the suffrage amendment in November.

Moreover, the suffrage enthusiasm displayed by these crowds has been as honest as it has been hearty. The big bronze replica of the original Liberty Bell which, with its chained clapper, mutely symbolizes the plea for political independence which the women are making, has struck a responsive chord in the hearts of the thousands who have turned from town and country-side to see it. It made them realize that the women of Pennsylvania who are asking for the ballot today are prompted by the same patriotic impulses and motives that stirred the men of this State in 1776.

And with this realization has come a desire to help, so that the new Liberty Bell may ring forth the same message of political emancipation to the women of this State on the night of November second, as the old bell proclaimed for the men nearly a century and a half ago.

This spirit of help and eager cooperation has been demonstrated day after day and in county after county from the very beginning of the Women's Liberty Bell tour. It has been shown in the friendly faces of the crowds at every town and cross-roads, in the resounding cheers with which they speed the bell on its way, in the pledges of the men to vote "yes" for suffrage in November—and, last but not least, in the freely given offerings to the suffrage campaign funds by hundreds of those who have seen the bell and caught some of the spirit which it typifies.

It is not merely incidents of this sort, however, that are making the members of the bell party so optimistic of victory on Election Day. It is rather the indications of the rapidly-increasing sentiment for woman suffrage that they find in each town and hamlet.

They find it not only in the big crowds and the cheers that greet them and their Liberty Bell, but in the eagerness with which their speakers are listened to and the earnestness with which their arguments for equal suffrage are received. And so, at the conclusion of the bell trip on the night of November first, they see "Victory" looming large and printed on the election return by the ballots of the men of Pennsylvania who believe in fair play for women as well as for men.

PROMINENT LAWYER ARGUES FOR SUFFRAGE

Ex-Attorney General George W. Wickersham said at the Southern Society dinner in New York City, in speaking of the race question:

"I do not believe that this problem will ever be solved by the total disfranchisement for all time of 10,000,000 of our citizens. No people can thrive and advance if, side by side, and working with them, are 10,000,000 who are disfranchised from all voice in government. God knows that this is a difficult problem and God knows how it will be solved; but it cannot be solved by denying to any, be he black or yellow or red, the right of a voice in making the laws by which he shall be governed and in the choice of the men who shall govern him."

But Mr. Wickersham thinks it perfectly right to debar 24,000,000 women from all share in making the laws by which they are governed, and all share in choosing the men who shall govern them. At a recent anti-suffrage meeting he went so far as to predict this disruption of the home and the death of chivalry if women should be given the ballot. It is odd how much easier it is for him to see an injustice to men of the other races than to the women of his own race!—Alice Stone Blackwell, in The Woman's Journal.

Settling the Woman Question.

"The woman question is not going to be settled until it is settled right," says Dr. Frank Crane, the well-known author. "That will only be when the woman shall stand beside the man a full equal in every respect before the law, a fully recognized citizen, a human soul entitled to every privilege incident to a personality."

REMEMBER

To go voting does not take longer than to go marketing.

To discuss politics is more elevating than to discuss the neighbors.

The home long ago ceased to be the only place for women to work.

There are about 8,000,000 women breadwinners in the United States.

There are only three or four occupations in which women are not now employed.

The men of Pennsylvania will have their first chance this November to give the women of the State justice by giving them the ballot.

WHERE WOMEN VOTE

"Women suffrage exists in New Zealand," wrote its Prime Minister, "because it dawned upon the minds of thinking men that they were daily wasting an almost unlimited supply of mental and moral force."

Women taxpayers in Alexandria, La., have used the vote to get good roads, which otherwise they might not have won.

GIRLS AT A DISCOUNT

"In a Jersey City damage suit the other day a court decided that the life of a boy is worth just twice as much in cash as the life of a girl. At this distance we can't quite make out whether the judge and jury are anti-feminists or boosters of woman suffrage in disguise.

"Evidence presented showed that twin babies had died from impurities in a patented food. For the boy twin the father was awarded $2,000 and for the girl $1,000.

"By what astounding mental process was this conclusion reached? Under 'the laws of nature and nature's God' a boy and a girl placed in the scales of worth balance each other perfectly.

"The mystery is easily explained by a dollars and cents test. Had the boy baby lived and gone to work in a New Jersey mill its wages would have brought more money to the father than his sister could have earned. But are WE ready to say that women are worth only fifty cents on the dollar?

"Reducing human values to terms of money is simply impossible, and nobody ever attempted it without producing absurdities. In their talks to voters this year the women might fairly insist that boys and girls stand on a level when their cases come into court."

ORGANIZED COMMUNITY BUILDING

Natural Evolutionary Product of the Chautauqua Movement.

Many towns and boroughs have found inspiration and distinctive instruction at the Chautauqua assembly. Lectures on health, scientific sanitation, moral betterment, social settlement, education, local commercial interests and general civic uplift are having direct effect on community interests. Playgrounds and other altruistic interests are the direct results of agitation along this line on the Chautauqua platform.

cently made by the postoffice authorities.

Each carrier present reported that at present he was obliged to work until late each evening, though the roads are probably at their best and other conditions favorable, and declared that later in the season with bad roads and unfavorable weather it would be an absolute impossibility to go over the routes as lengthened by the readjustment.

James Herron of Speers stated that it will be impossible for him to deliver mail to the patrons of the route assigned him and suggested that the matter should be brought immediately before the postoffice department by petitions signed by both carriers and patrons of the routes. Similar reports were made by several other carriers.

He Can Who Thinks He Can

A Great Lecture of Optimism and Inspiration.

FOR eight years William Rainey Bennett has stood at the very forefront of the Redpath list of noted lecturers. His lecture is a great fusillade of facts, fun and fancy. Its theme is "He Can Who Thinks He Can." In every brain is a sleeping genius. It can be awakened. This lecture will do it. It helps young people to find themselves. It gives health, poise and power. The lecture contains the famous "Wolf Chase," which Judge Ben B. Lindsey pronounced as good as the best Lew Wallace ever wrote.

Mr. Bennett will lecture on the night of the opening day of the Redpath-Brockway Chautauqua during the coming season.
